

Fire and Life Safety America/East Coast Fire Protection, Inc, a premier fire and life safety contractor is seeking to add an experienced Fire Alarm and Special Hazards Designer to our team in Virginia. If you are a highly motivated professional associate who wants to succeed, grow, and have fun in a fast paced environment.

Essential Duties and Responsibilities include the following, but are not limited to:

- Laying out fire alarm and detection systems for standalone alarm systems as well as releasing systems for suppression
- Preparing drawings and submittal packages for permit purposes
- Attend coordination meetings when needed as well as coordinating between field and office operations
- Ability to determine proper code requirements when reviewing drawings
- Ability to develop as built drawings and close-out documentation
- Ability to be trained to commission new projects
- Perform in-service training for end users and/or owners

QUALIFICATIONS

- Minimum NICET II certification in Fire Alarms or Special Hazard
- Strong working knowledge of fire alarm codes
- Working knowledge of AutoCAD (release 2000 and later)
- Ability to communicate clearly and accurately with local code officials
- Factory training a plus
- Must be willing to relocate or travel in the state of Virginia
- Salary commensurate with experience

Fire & Life Safety America encourages initiative, independence, diversity and personal career growth with sensitivity to quality of life issues. We offer a comprehensive benefits package including competitive salary, medical and dental coverage, vacation, life insurance, short and long term disability insurance; flex spending plan, 401(k), and bonus opportunities.

For consideration, please send resumes with salary requirements to Robert Myers: RMyers@flsamerica.com reference "ASH Designer -VA" in the subject line. EOE.